BUCK PASSING CHARGED

Probers Told Leaders
Not Believe Japs Would
Hit Pearl Harbor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short today accused the war department of trying to hide its own guilt by making him "the scapegoat" for the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Not he, Short asserted, but Gen. George C. Marshall and the war department were to blame for the fact that the Army was caught napping by the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941.

The deposed commander of the Army's Hawaiian department broke a four-year silence to declare before the Pearl Harbor investigating committee that the war department should long since have confessed its own failures.

"Instead," Short said, "they 'passed the buck' to me, and I have kept my silence until the opportunity of this public forum was presented to me."

Short was relieved of his command 10 days after Pearl Harbor. He retired soon afterward with the rank of Major General.

Short's statement was similar in purport to that of Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, former commander of the U. S. Pacific fleet, who preceded him before the committee.

Like Kimmel, he blamed his Washington superiors for the crushing defeat at Pearl Harbor. Kimmel had charged that the Navy department, by withholding vital information, deprived his fleet of a fighter chance to avert the disaster.

Short was outspokenly critical of Marshall, former Army chief of staff. Marshall had told the congressional committee that the Hawaiian command had all the advance warning it should have needed to be properly alerted against a Japanese attack.

The deposed general vigorously rejected this view. He declared that although the war department had prior knowledge that war was at hand, it did not pass it along to him.

He put the finger on Marshall as the man to blame for keeping information out of his hands. He also asserted that Marshall had given him reason to believe, long before Pearl Harbor, that the staff chief personally would dictate the kind of alert to be established at Hawaii in the event of a hostile threat.

This, when the chips were down, Marshall did not do, Short said. Short did what he thought best in the light of the information he had, he told the committee. The result was that when the Japanese aerial striking force hit Hawaii, Short's command was alerted only against sabotage.

But, he testified, the war department had known for nine days—since his reply to a "war-warning" of Nov. 27, 1941—the kind of alert he had ordered and had ample opportunity to do so, he said, indicated to him that the war department "approved fully" the steps he had taken.

The plain truth, Short said, is (Continued on Page Two)

Charges Against Britain Studied

Farmers Opposing Subsidies

Organization Leaders Say
They Will Fight Truman
Payment Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—Major farm organizations today strongly opposed President Truman's proposal to retain food subsidies after the June 30 deadline now set for their termination.

The President, in his budget message yesterday, said that unless subsidies were continued, the nation's food bill would go up eight per cent. Specifically, he said that on July 1, meat prices would be three to five cents a pound higher; butter up 12 cents in addition to the recent five-cents-a-pound increase; milk, one cent a quart more; cheese, 12 cents higher; bread, one cent higher, and sugar, one cent higher a pound.

Farm organization leaders said farmers already had gone ahead with their 1946 production plans in the belief that the government would carry out its announced program of ending most subsidies by mid-year. They said a turnabout now would be "one of the worst double crosses in history."

President Edward O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau said he would make public today a "vigorous statement" on his views. National Grange officials said they would "fight unequivocally" against the President's move. Other farm organizations, with the exception of the National Farmer's Union, were known to agree with these views.

The opposition of farm leaders indicated a sharp fight in congress over continued subsidy legislation. Congressmen from most farming and southern states were expected to line up against city and labor representatives.

In requesting continued subsidies, Mr. Truman said that the termination schedule was announced Nov. 9 with the expectation that (Continued on Page Two)

Appropriations Committee Up
VA Funds But Not As Much As Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—The house appropriations committee today voted $5,594,146.286 for independent government offices and agencies in the next fiscal year—a cut of $46,730,216 from President Truman's original request.

The total, however, was $1,329,380,216 higher than appropriations to the same agencies in the current fiscal year, ending June 30. The overall increase was accounted for primarily by greatly increased obligations and activities of the veterans administration.

The committee allotted VA $4,931,142,415 or 87 1/2 per cent of the proposed appropriations. This was $3,481,085 less than the budget bureau had asked for VA but $1,182,174,413 more than the agency's appropriations for this year.

In its report, the committee said it had been assured by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administrator, that these funds were "required and necessary to do a good job of caring for the veterans."

Other appropriations recommended by the committee and increased or decreased from 1946 appropriations included:

Federal works agency, $322,222,872; up $112,603,534; civil service commission, $235,388,500, down $28,934,382; executive office of the president, $4,275,540, down $713,345; federal communications commission, $5,585,000, up $187,100; federal power commission, $3,116,000, up $471,500; federal trade commission, $2,139,120, up $197,287; interstate commerce commission, $9,546,000, up $1,426,662; national advisory committee for aeronautics, $29,673,000, up $3,658,607; securities and exchange commission, $4,836,700, up $527,500; tariff commission, $985,000, up $151,590; general accounting office, $40,300,000, up $3,149,220.

INTERFERENCE CHARGED

British, U. S. Leaders Meet
To Discuss First Case
Of Accusation

LONDON, Jan. 22—Russia's No. 2 foreign policy expert, Andrei Vishinsky, arrived today to support a Soviet charge before the UNO that the presence of British troops in Greece and Indonesia threatened the peace of the world.

British government leaders and the American delegation to the UNO assembly met early today to discuss the organization's first case of one big power accusing another of conduct violating the spirit if not the letter of the San Francisco charter.

The British position was said to be that the government had nothing to fear from UNO examination of its policy in Greece and Indonesia. At least some British officials were said to feel that an investigation might dispel misunderstanding about British motives in both places.

Vishinsky, Russian vice foreign commissar and head of the Soviet delegation to London, landed at Tangmere airfield, Sussex, after a flight from Berlin. He was unable to attend the early sessions of the UNO meeting because of business in the Balkans and Moscow.

Russia and the Soviet Ukraine last night asked the UNO security council to investigate and act on what they described as threats to the peace arising from the presence of British troops in Greece and Indonesia. Russia specifically accused the British of interfering in Greek internal affairs—the identical charge made against the Soviet Union before the UNO by Iran last week.

(Athens dispatches quoted Premier Themistocles Sophoulis as saying that British troops were in Greece "with the complete consent of the Greek government and in full collaboration with it to re-establish order." He said the Soviet representation to the UNO "in any case has no relation to the present situation in Greece, but belongs to the sphere of more general questions which concern the big allies.")

Responsible quarters said the British government would avoid any move which might be interpreted to mean that Britain was seeking to prevent the security council from discussing the Soviet charges.

British sources said they believed Britain had a "very good case" in both Greece and Indonesia, and that Britain had "nothing to hide." If the security council (Continued on Page Two)

MERCURY HITS LOWEST MARK OF YEAR, 2 ABOVE

The lowest temperature recorded in Circleville this year was suffered by Circleville Tuesday as the mercury dia a tailspin from a high of 36 Monday to a low of 2 above Tuesday morning.

The near-zero temperature came as quite a shock to Circlevillians after enjoying the comparatively warm weather of the last few weeks. The contrast seemed especially great when compared with the early January high of 72.

The weatherman predicted relief Wednesday from Tuesday's cold. The forecast for Wednesday is fair with rising temperature.

The skies were clear and the sun was shining brightly at noon Tuesday, but the thermometer continued to spite the sun, registering a frigid 10 above.

American Workers Lose $13,500,000 Daily In Worst Wave of Strikes

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—The worst wave of strikes in the nation's history is costing the 1,650,000 workers involved an estimated $13,500,000 daily in lost wages, a survey revealed today.

More than $100,000,000 in wages already have been lost in the four big strikes now in progress.

These involve 1,426,000 workers in the steel, auto, packinghouse and electrical industries.

Daily loss in wages in these four industries is $12,143,800, according to company and union estimates. Losses to the companies involved runs into many millions more.

Biggest loss in wages has been suffered by the 175,000 workers of the General Motors Corp. plants whose strike for a 30 per cent wage increase is now in its ninth week.

These workers have lost between $62,000,000 and $72,000,000. On the basis of a 40-hour work week, the loss is $62,000,000 or $312.80 per employee. Basing the estimate on a 45-hour reconversion work week the company said it intended to establish, the loss would be $72,000,000 or $425.60 per worker.

Loss of income to the 500,000 workers in the electrical and packinghouse workers strike is estimated at $24,000,000, $12,000,000 for the 300,000 packers and a similar amount for the 200,000 electrical workers. Both strikes are now in their second week.

The nation's 750,000 steel workers are losing a total of $6,540,000 daily, according to the union. However, H. E. Lewis, chairman and president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company said in a radio broadcast last week that the strike would cost workers $5,000,000 in wages daily.

Strike of electrical workers against General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and the electrical division of General Motors is costing a daily age loss of approximately $2,000,000.

This figure includes GE's estimate of $1,000,000 lost daily by its 100,000 workers; WE's estimate of $642,000 lost by its 61,000 employees and a daily loss of $210,000 by 21,000 electrical workers at General Motors' plants.

In addition, a strike of 17,000 workers in 21 Western Electric telephone equipment plants in New York and New Jersey is costing a daily wage loss of $108,800, according to (Continued on Page Two)

BUDGET IS QUESTIONED

President's Figures Fail
To Satisfy Many; Tax
Cuts Are Studied

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—Administration leaders in congress today saw signs of troubled days ahead in their effort to win approval of President Truman's legislative and budgetary programs.

At least three items in the big legislative package which Mr. Truman sent to congress in his 30,000-word message yesterday were meeting stubborn opposition from members both inside and outside his party.

And his $35,860,000,000 budget for the 1947 fiscal year, a sharp reduction over present spending, did not satisfy all demands for governmental economy now that the war is over. Opposition also was certain for his request for continuation of the present tax structure in order to maintain the present high rate of government income.

While the President was pretty sure of getting some tentative victories in the administration-controlled committees of congress, a good portion of his legislative program will have tough sledding on the floors of the senate and house.

For instance, the house labor committee approved by 13 to 3 vote a measure to keep the U. S. employment service under federal control until June 30, 1947. But when it comes to the floor Friday, its supporters aren't too certain of the outcome. Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, R., Ill., already has announced his intention to offer a substitute to return the USES to the states within 30 days.

The administration bill to raise the minimum hourly wage from 40 to 65 cents is facing the prospect of amendment before it gets out of the senate education and labor committee. This was conceded by Chairman James E. Murray, D., Mont. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., wants the bill re-written to provide for a 55 cents minimum.

Meanwhile, Rep. Frank Hook, D., Mich., is trying to stall a house labor committee vote on President Truman's requested legislation to set up fact-finding boards in labor (Continued on Page Two)

LAUSCHE CALLS CONFERENCE TO PREVENT STRIKE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 22—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today called a conference of labor and management as he acted to prevent the threatened strike of workers for three large utility companies which would cut off electric service to an estimated 700,000 consumers and affect 2,500,000 Ohioans.

Lausche announced he had summoned to the conference here Thursday representatives of the Utility Workers of America (CIO) and the Ohio Power Co., the Edison Co., and the Dayton power and light Co.

The strike, set for Jan. 30, involves a demand by more than 3,000 maintenance and power plant workers for a 20-cent an hour wage increase, according to information here.

The governor said he expected to discuss with the two groups "the seriousness of what will happen in the event a strike is called." He said the strike would cut off service not only to residential and industrial consumers but also to hospitals and other institutions.

The Ohio Power Co. serves 300,000 consumers, principally in eastern and southeastern Ohio. Ohio Edison serves 250,000 in Akron, Youngstown and Springfield areas, and the Dayton Co. furnishes power and light to 170,000 consumers in 23 southwestern Ohio counties.

Atom Proof Ships To Be Attempted

Navy To Make Plans After Atom Bomb Tests Are Made Next Spring

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22—An attempt to "atom-proof" the Navy's peacetime fleet of 1,050 combat vessels will be made after atom-bomb tests are conducted on obsolete ships next spring, Rear Adm. Russell F. Berkey, chief of the civil liaison section, said today.

Berkey said that the site of the tests had not been decided but that the first requirement was shallow water to enable Navy divers to examine the wreckage of the sunken ships and determine points of major stress.

All types of American, captured German and Japanese naval vessels will be subjected to atomic explosions. The "guinea pig" vessels will include the giant Japanese battleship Nagato, now lying off Yokosuka naval base near Tokyo.

After scientists, engineers, military and naval observers have studied the results of the tests and determined the effect of the atomic weapon in naval warfare, (Continued on Page Two)

MURRAY SCORES 'BIG BUSINESS'

CIO Leader Says Industries
Are Attempting To Force
Complete Surrender

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22—The nationwide steel strike was beginning to be felt in allied industries today as CIO President Philip Murray charged that big business was demanding "unconditional surrender" from the government and public.

As steel production dropped to the lowest level in 53 years, railroads and river barge companies began laying off workers. Railroads not only laid off men who handled shipments to and from the steel mills, but were closing their shops. Other layoffs threatened as steel supplies dwindled.

Murray charged industrialists were "determined to eliminate, if they possibly can, true collective bargaining between management and labor unions."

"They are hell bent to place themselves above all laws and rules of equity and justice," Murray declared in radio address on the eve of the second day of the steel strike which has idled 900,000 workers.

"It is their clear aim to exact unconditional surrender from the American people and the United States government," he said. "There can be no question but that an evil conspiracy has been hatched among American big business. This conspiracy challenged our very basic democratic institutions."

"The steel industry with unmatched boldness rejected the determination of the President of the United States. The General Motors corporation has, without any qualm, rejected the recommendation of the fact-finding panel for settlement of the current wage dispute between that union and the UAW-CIO. The union accepted the compromise proposal."

SOCIALIST MOST LIKELY CHOICE TO LEAD FRANCE

PARIS, Jan. 22—Vincent Auriol, right wing socialist and former finance minister, emerged today as the most likely compromise choice to head France's next government after the Communist party abandoned its campaign for the leadership of the nation.

France's big three political parties—the Communists, Socialists and Popular Republicans—were engaged in a furious round of horse trading and compromise in an effort to reach an agreement on a successor to the resigned Charles De Gaulle.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—President Truman is considering seizure of the meat industry and some action is possible today, the White House announced.

By United Press

The nation writhed in the grip of its greatest industrial crisis today, with 1,786,000 workers idle in strikes and additional thousands leaving their jobs daily.

Estimates showed that the gigantic steel strike, in its second day, already had forced the layoff of 100,000 nonstriking office workers and 6,000 men employed in dependent railroad operations.

A prolonged steel walkout might bring complete shutdown of the automobile farm equipment and electrical appliance industries, already plagued by mass walkouts, industrial observers said.

In the major work stoppages: 1. A government fact-finding board began hearings in the nationwide strike of nearly 300,000 AFL and CIO packinghouse workers, entering its seventh day.

2. Steel tonnage dropped to a 53-year low as representatives of 750,000 striking CIO steelworkers prepared for a long battle over wage demands.

3. Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach scheduled meetings today with officials of General Electric and Westinghouse and leaders of 200,000 CIO electrical workers union members who struck a week ago for a $2-a-day raise in pay.

4. Thirty thousand members of the United Farm Equipment Workers (CIO) remained on strike for the second day at 11 plants of the International Harvester company.

5. Union and management officials met with government conciliators in Washington in an attempt to avert a threatened strike of 700,000 shipyard workers.

The American Iron & Steel Institute predicted that current steel inventories of larger manufacturing companies would be exhausted within two weeks. An industrial authority said it was "impossible" to exaggerate the effect upon the national economy if the strike were prolonged.

More than 1,200 plants in 30 states were shut down as the steelworkers pressed demands for a $1.48 a day wage increase. The strike was termed the most effective in the history of organized labor.

Meanwhile, Washington officials were reported drafting legal procedure for seizure of the strike-bound packinghouses to prevent a meat famine and halt revival of black markets.

A possible alternative was an appeal to striking meat workers to return to work under promises of wage increases financed by higher prices on top quality and luxury grade meats. Supporters of the plan said it would aid packers in meeting wage boosts but would not increase the cost of meat to low income groups.

Seizure still had not been considered seriously for the steel industry, and many of Mr. Truman's advisers were hopeful that the U. S. Steel Corp. would decide to accept his suggested wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour.

Elsewhere, the strikebound General Motors Corp. ignored a midnight deadline imposed by the CIO auto workers for acceptance of a 19 1/2-cents-an-hour pay increase. The union, thereupon, announced it had reverted to its original 30-per-cent demand.

In New York, a city-wide transit strike was averted when Mayor William O'Dwyer announced, he would not sell three city power plants without approval of the voters. CIO transport workers had threatened strike action if the plants were sold to the consolidated Edison company without public vote.

that though the war department expected war, it had no idea that the Japanese would hit Pearl Harbor.

He admitted he did not properly appraise the situation as it subsequently unfolded. But the war department, he said, had deprived him of the information essential to a correct appraisal.

Not until the present inquiry started, Short noted, did Marshall and Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, former chief of Army war plans, admit publicly that they shared responsibility for the Pearl Harbor defeat.

"I do not believe that I have been treated fairly or with justice by the war department," Short said.

"I was singled out as an example, as the scapegoat for the disaster. My relatively small part in the transaction was not explained to the American people until this joint congressional committee forced the revelation of the facts."

"I am sure that an honest confession by the war department general staff of their failure to anticipate the surprise raid would have been understood by the public in the long run and at the time."

Short accused the war department of trying "to deceive the public by a false statement that my judgment had been the sole factor" in Army's failure.

The Navy will reinforce its own ships, Berkeley said.

Half of the fleet of 1,050 ships will be put in active status and the remainder in active and inactive reserve, Berkeley said.

The active vessels will be divided into three fleets—the Atlantic, Pacific, and Atlantic, the Navy executive said.

Approximately 500,000 enlisted men and 55,000 officers will man the fleet.

The active reserve fleet will be manned by skeleton crews but will be ready for action, fully manned, within 30 days in case of emergency, Berkeley said.

The Navy will require an inactive reserve of 300,000 men voluntarily attending drills and training courses, Berkeley said, adding that present plans call for 1,100,000 men to be available for muster within six months in the event of war.

THIRD INSTITUTE IN COUNTY WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY

The third of a series of seven Farmers' Institutes being held in Pickaway county will be conducted Wednesday and Thursday at Commercial Point.

Officers for the Institute at Commercial Point are the following: Raymond Holt, route 3, Circleville, president; Pearl Ziemer, route 2, Orient, vice president; Harold Wilson, Lockbourne, secretary, and Howard Neff, route 2, Ashville, treasurer.

The two-day institute at Walnut township school is scheduled to close Tuesday night with the presentation of an old-fashioned minstrel show.

Mrs. Wilma Wintringham, inspirational speaker, and Walter Sherman, truck and dairy expert, were scheduled to speak at the Commercial Point institute. Mrs. Wintringham, however, was unable to attend the Walnut institute due to illness and may not be able to speak at the Commercial Point institute. Her place may be taken by Mrs. Herbert White, who spoke at the Walnut institute.

C. E. GLANDER IS SPEAKER AT KIWANIS CLUB

Application of the some of the principles of Kiwanis to the present day world problems was the anniversary week subject of C. Emory Glander, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Columbus Kiwanis club and state tax commissioner, at the Circleville Kiwanis club meeting in Hanley's Monday evening.

Kiwanis is observing this week the 31st anniversary of the founding of the organization. Basing most of his talk on the principle "to give primacy to human and spiritual values rather than to material values of life", Mr. Glander pointed to the need for nations to consider the human side rather than the lust for power. He said that Kiwanians, believing in the practice of this principle can do a lot to help solve the world's ills.

The second principle discussed was "to develop by precept and example more intelligent and aggressive citizenship". He asked if the United States, watched by the rest of the world as one of the most powerful nations was setting a good example when the country is apparently torn by internal strife as evidenced by the widespread strikes.

Three new members were inducted into the club by Dr. W. L. Sproule. They were Herrel Midkiff, Irvin Reid and George Schaub. Visiting Kiwanians were Sam Waldon, Chillicothe, and Ernest Beckwith, Lancaster.

On the tax front, some members of the house ways and means committee are in favor of cutting individual income taxes again and dropping the heavy war-time increases in excise taxes. Rep. Harold Knutson, Minn., ranking Republican member of the committee, has introduced a bill to repeal the war-time excises.

Most congressional interest centered on the budget portion of the President's message. Reaction was generally divided on party lines. Democrats thought it was fine. Republicans, however, eyed with suspicion the President's efforts to move toward a balanced budget.

Opposing Subsidies

food costs would drop but that they had not.

A Grange official conceded that it might not be possible to remove all subsidies by June 30 under the anti-inflation program. He said the Grange favors the announcement now of a definite program for ending subsidies "a little at a time" instead of waiting for prices to fall below "present inadequate callings."

It was understood that Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, who favors an early end of subsidies, had agreed to go along with President Truman's proposal "after a bitter behind-the-scenes battle."

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO

IN ORDER THAT THE PUBLIC MIGHT BE FULLY ADVISED CONCERNING THE PRESENT POSITION TAKEN BY THE OHIO WATER SERVICE COMPANY IN REGARD TO THE CONDEMNATION SUIT FILED AGAINST THE COMPANY BY THE CITY AND THE APPEAL THEREFROM, WE SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING COMPLETE LETTER SENT TO THE CITY'S ATTORNEYS BY THE COMPANY'S ATTORNEYS ON JANUARY 17TH, 1946:—

January 17, 1946.
Joseph W. Adkins, Jr. Esq.
Tom A. Renick, Esq.
Circleville, Ohio

In re: Ohio Water Service Company
Condemnation Case.

Dear Messrs Adkins and Renick:

You recently suggested to us that the Company consider dismissing its pending appeal.

Upon due consideration, our client decided that it would be willing to dismiss the appeal forthwith, if at the same time an order were entered by the Common Pleas Court overruling your pending motion for suspension of execution of the judgment rendered on October 15, 1945. Accordingly, we submitted to you a few days ago various motions and entries designed to accomplish these things. You have since indicated that you will not agree to the entries which we prepared upon the proposed dismissal of the appeal if the company intends actively to oppose the granting of the suspension of execution of the judgment on the basis set forth in the form of entry which you recently submitted to us. The form of entry which you submitted contained a "further order" that the City shall have six months from and after the date of the final determination of the appeal within which to comply with the October 15 judgment.

A major inducement which led our client to decide that it would be willing to dismiss its appeal was the understanding that such dismissal would be accompanied by a ruling or commitment that the time within which the judgment must be executed would not be extended. This matter of the extension of the time imposes a very great burden upon the Company. Until such time as the city actually pays for the property, the company has no legally binding assurance whether the property will or will not finally be taken. In the meantime, the company is beset with all the problems of a going business, and sustains the business burdens and legal burdens of a public utility company. It has always been the company's policy to serve its customers to the best of its ability. This requires that service to existing customers must be kept up at all times and improved when necessary. It also requires that when members of the public now previously served want and become entitled to service, the company must stand ready to furnish it to them (within the limits of the restrictions which are imposed upon the company by the city under the franchise).

In discharge of its obligation to render adequate service, the company has, since the trial ended last June, already expended nearly four thousand dollars in additions to its Circleville plant. Also, still other persons urgently need water service. The company wants to furnish it. Furnishing such new service and maintaining the proper standard of service to existing customers will require the expenditure of additional thousands of dollars in the next few weeks or months.

Therefore, we cannot and will not agree to the entry which you have submitted.

For reasons of its own, the company is still willing to dismiss the appeal on the basis originally proposed to you. As a second alternative, it is willing to dismiss the appeal and agree to an entry identical with the one which you submitted to us a few days ago on your motion for suspension, except that the third and final paragraph of that entry must be deleted. We consider that this third paragraph goes beyond anything that it will do or ought to do.

If you desire to proceed pursuant to either of the aforesaid alternatives, please let us know.

Do not conclude from anything herein that the company is unready and unwilling to keep on contesting this matter as diligently and as long as it may see fit to do so. It hasn't given up hope that this forced loss of its property may yet be prevented somehow by fair and legal means. Nor has it even ceased to believe that it can do a better and more economical job of furnishing water service in the City of Circleville than could be furnished through public ownership.

We will use as much time as may be necessary to try to prevent the ultimate loss by the company of its property, but we believe the kind of time extension you propose is unfair and illegal.

In the meantime, we would be pleased to hear from the city any suggestions which it may have to offer, stating how the interests of the company and of the public can be protected until the time comes when the city shall either have taken over the property which existed last June, or shall have given up or lost its right to do so. Specifically, what undertaking or assurance can and will the city give to the company that the company will be reimbursed for additions and improvements to its plant heretofore and hereafter made which became or shall become necessary in order to enable the company to render adequate service during this interim period?

Very truly yours,
CARL C. LEIST

Mrs. Clarence Clark Is Study Club Speaker

Children's Ills Are Discussed At Meeting

Mrs. Clarence Clark furnished the paper for the program when the members of the Child Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Henry Helwegen, North Court street, Monday evening.

During the business meeting which preceded the program, Mrs. Richard Robinson, president, appointed a committee composed of Mrs. William Steele, Mrs. Richard Morris, Mrs. Carroll Morgan and Mrs. Clarence Clark to represent the club in Girl Scout work. Mrs. Robinson also read a letter from the State president calling attention to the coming state convention which will be held in the early Spring, place and date to be announced later.

Excerpts from Mrs. Clark's paper follow—

Study of the emotional aspects of disease, sickness and pain is called psychosomatic medicine. It comes from two Greek words, psyche, meaning mind or spirit and soma meaning body. It is really a stressing of a very old principle, that since body and mind are interrelated, what happens to one affects the other. This study is of special importance in relation to children.

If a child cannot find adequate expression for emotional tension through speech or action, his body may share his distress and begin to express it in the form of aches and pains.

Doctors find that many of the ways in which children fall ill in the absence of any physical disease are often attempts to convert their unhappiness into physical symptoms. "Dizzy spells" is a frequent expression of a deep sense of insecurity as is, shaky knees and ringing in the ears.

Chronic fatigue may indicate a repressed emotional conflict which uses up so much energy, that there is little left for everyday activities. Such tensions can affect the voluntary muscles as you well know if you have ever found yourself sitting tense, clenching your hands, or setting your teeth when you are angry or anxious. It is the body's way of being on guard. If these feelings are sustained, the results are muscular soreness, aches and pains and eventually in certain types, neuralgia or even arthritis.

Constant itching often indicates a dissatisfaction of one's surroundings, which the itchy tries to take out on himself. The skin is sensitive to emotional disturbances, sometimes pales from fright or flushes from embarrassment or anger or even breaks out in goose flesh. It is believed that there is a strong psychological component in many cases of eczema, hives and acne.

A study of asthma has been made by British doctors who reported on the treatment of 27 cases of bronchial asthmatic attacks occurred in children who feared a separation from home and mother. Most of the patients admitted that they never cried. Frequently, in the psychotherapy of asthma cases, crying replaces the attack. In this connection it might be well to point out that there may be danger in insisting that a child control all expression of rage or grief at too early an age.

The abdomen has been called the sounding board of emotions. Many people have experienced loss of appetite during an emotional crisis, indigestion or heart burn when faced with a difficult task, or constipation or diarrhea if they are disturbed over something. The gastro-intestinal tract is liberally supplied with nerves which have a close relation to the brain. It is the oldest system of the body and begins very early in the development of the embryo. A baby feels safe and comfortable when he is fed. Soon he accepts his feeding as an expression of love and associates it with a feeling of security, both emotional and physical security. The upper end of the digestive tract, because of taking in or receiving, is associated with his wishes and needs for love and affections. Similarly, the eliminative functions of the body may become associated in the child's feelings. Thus constipation or diarrhea may in later life become his unconscious way of saying "I am unhappy" or "I am stubborn". Well known doctors add that the achievement of bowel and bladder control should never be hurried at the expense of the child's feelings.

Miss Thornton Is Hostess To Group

January meeting of the Girls Interest group of the Methodist church was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Margie Thornton, East Mound street, with 16 members and Mrs. Clyde Cook and Mrs. Walter F. Heine, as guests.

Business for the evening was conducted by Miss Jean Heine, president, and Miss Marilyn Schumm presented the program topic, "Crusaders for Christian Education." After a general discussion of the topic the group honored Marilyn Blair with a birthday cake and a "going away" gift. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and contests.

Mary June Neff will entertain the group in February at her home, Pinckney street.

The hostess served refreshments assisted by her mother, Mrs. Marie Thornton.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Braising is a favorite way to cook meat because it makes the most of the less tender cuts that occasionally fall to your share. To braise meat, season it with salt and pepper and brown it on all sides in hot fat. Add a small amount of liquid, just enough to cover bottom of the pan, then cover the pan tightly. This is important. Cook at simmering temperature on top of range or in a slow oven until the meat is tender, adding a bit more liquid, if necessary, during the cooking. Pot roasts, stew cuts, flank steak are all delicious cooked by the braising method.

may develop in the form of anything from chronic appendicitis or spastic colitis to such serious diseases as peptic ulcers or cardiac conditions. No one of us is entirely free from emotional and mental conflicts but the comparatively normal person solves them without too much difficulty or distress. Doctors believe that the child whose earliest weeks, months and years are free of anxiety and full of serene, normal, emotional satisfaction, is most likely to be untroubled in his late years by dangerous and uncomfortable "body-talk". He will be able to work out his problems in work and social companionships instead of having to resort to aches and pains to express his unconscious emotional conflicts.

Mrs. William Steele was assisting hostess with Mrs. Helwegen. Refreshments were served.

Past Presidents Hear Book Review By Mrs. Tolbert

Twelve members of the Past Presidents club of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Cora Coffland, East Main street.

Mrs. Coffland, president, read a letter from the management of the Fletcher General Hospital, Cambridge, thanking the club for the lap robes that had been sent to that institution at Christmas time. Plans were made at this meeting for the club to make table covers to be sent to the Veterans hospital at Chillicothe.

For the program, Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, a member of the club, who is now department president of Ohio of the D. U. V. gave a review of the book "Our Assyrian Guests" by Knight, which Mrs. Tolbert explained was an interpretation of the 23rd psalm. She said it explains the customs and manners of the shepherds of the Holy Land as told by an Assyrian who was a guest in an American home.

A committee was appointed by Mrs. Coffland to draw resolutions of respect to be sent to the family of a deceased member of the club. Mrs. Charles Stoffer, whose death occurred Sunday, Mrs. Tolbert was named chairman of the committee with Mrs. James Trimmer and Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, the other members.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. John Newton will be hostess to the club at her home, North Court street, for the February meeting with Mrs. Reichelderfer acting as program chairman.

Mrs. Nelson Lape Honored At Shower

Mrs. Nelson Lape, a recent bride, was honored at a miscellaneous shower at which Miss Mildred and Miss Mary K. Wolfe were hostesses at their home, North Court street.

A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations throughout the home. In the dining room pink and white paper streamers and a decorated sprinkling can suspended from the chandelier and a bowl of Spring flowers on the table carried out the color effect. Mrs. Lape unwrapped her gifts in the dining room where they had been placed under the sprinkling can.

Bridge and rook were the diversion of the evening with prizes awarded to Mrs. W. C. Shasteen, Mary Kennedy, Mrs. Donald Wolfe and Dorothy Glick.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses at the conclusion of the games to Mrs. Joseph Brink, Mrs. Howard McKee, Mrs. Ned H. Dresbach, Mrs. Raymond Francis, Mrs. Howard Richardson, Mrs. William A. Goeller, Mrs. Charles Beckman, Mrs. Kenneth Young, Miss Ethel Hussey, Miss Kathryn Bockert, the prizewinners, and the honored guest.

Monday Club To Sponsor Talk By Mrs. Chrisman

When the Monday Club met in the Trustees' Room of the Public Library Monday evening, Mrs. Robert Adkins president, conducted the short business session during which Mrs. Robert Musser, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced a lecture to be given on Monday, January 28, in the Social Rooms of the Circleville High School.

The speaker will be Mrs. Claud Chrisman of Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Chrisman is widely known throughout the state as a dynamic speaker. She attended the San Francisco conference as unofficial observer for the Columbia Broadcasting system. Her subject will be "Building a World Charter." Tickets for the lecture are available at the door or from members of the committee who are, beside Mrs. Musser, Mrs. Arthur McCoard, Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, and Mrs. E. S. Shane.

The program was presented by Mrs. Clark Will who first introduced Mrs. Barton Deming. Mrs. Deming reviewed a number of productions currently playing in New York. Of "Deep Are the Roots" by d'Usseau and Gow she said "It is probably the most controversial play to reach Broadway in years, dealing as it does, with the race question." "The Rugged Path" by Robert Sherwood which brought Spencer Tracy back to the legitimate stage after an absence of fifteen years was her second choice, due to the importance of the actor rather than the vehicle which is dubbed "too talky and undramatic".

She concluded her talk with a resume of "The State of the Nation" by Lindsey and Crouse, a witty up-to-the-minute play. This she said is a "highly literate and professional comedy combined with a serious indictment of a system which allows special interests to violate the will of the people in electing public officials."

A guest of the club, Mrs. Ward Robinson, was the next speaker. Her subject was "The White Tower" written by James Ramsey Ullman. In reviewing this book, Mrs. Robinson said, "The casual reader of 'The White Tower' would say that this is a story of six people—a Swiss guide, an English geologist, a French writer, a German officer, a Viennese girl, and an American bomber pilot. It is infinitely more than that. The main character in the story is the mighty snow-peaked mountain which rises above all its fellow Alps, the White Tower itself. It is strange that a thing of ice and snow, of mist and sunlight, of barbarous cruelty and majestic loveliness could be so completely dominant in a story. Yet it weaves its spell into the life of every character in the book. It is a symbol to each one of them, that symbol differing through the personality of each one, but drawing and holding them together in a fascinating unity."

The theme of the story is the attempt of these five men and a girl to climb the hitherto unscalable heights of the White Tower. Mrs. Robinson concluded that Ullman has written "a serious novel woven about a serious idea; that he has told us in story form that humanity with all its races and classes, must become imbued with one common desire to scale greater heights than it has even known before. Perhaps the submergence of the individual into the group is the only principle which can bring about world accomplishment." This story is at the same time a novel of action and a novel of ideas. It is doubtless one of the important books of the year.

Mrs. Harry Allen, Miss Lucy Kelso, Miss Mary Hadley, and Willmar Lanning of Columbus and Angelo Gatter of Detroit, Mich. were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Litten and family.

Two foxes were killed in the Madison Township fox drive Saturday. Harrison Township farmers plan to hold a drive Saturday, January 26 centering in the South Bloomfield territory.

Ashville's Homecoming basketball game will be played this Friday with Scioto Township furnishing the opposition. The two schools have long been basketball rivals and games between the two usually provide plenty of fireworks. Both teams boast good records for the season. A capacity crowd is expected to see two interesting games beginning with the reserve game at 7:30.

Grade three of the local school boasted the best attendance record for the past six weeks of school with a 94.3% standing. None of the elementary grades fell below 90.1% which is satisfactory considering the wide-spread illness prevalent during December.

Sgt. Harry Hedges wrote from Manila, Philippine Islands on January 11 that it was difficult to picture the cold weather we have been having since the temperature there was 85. Sgt. Hedges is in charge of supplies for a Japanese camp numbering 3000 POW's. To feed this many requires a weekly allowance of 8400 pounds of rice and 2300 pounds of sugar. Most of the Japs do not want to return home as they are enjoying a higher standard of living as prisoners than they did at home. Sgt. Hedges, who has completed 40 months in the Army, hopes to return home soon.

Gilman Bolin of Columbus was guest speaker at a Boy Scout meeting held at the local Lutheran Church Monday evening. Refreshments were served to Scouts, boys interested in Scouting, and fathers of the boys.

George D. McDowell will speak at the January meeting of the Ashville P-T. A. and special entertainment has been planned for the evening. Members and others interested are invited to attend.

Kenneth G. Gibney of the Shawnee Mutual Insurance Company, Columbus was a business visitor in Ashville Monday.

Living through a dramatic period of history, an editorial points out, is far from boring. Maybe so, but it's a lot easier on the nerves to just read about it, instead.

If you are not sure whether or not to wash a dress of delicate color or a print that may not be entirely color fast, make a test. Snip off a tiny bit of material wherever it can be spared, haste white thread on it and drop into a glass of lukewarm soapuds for seven minutes, then remove, dry in towel and iron. If there is no change in the color of water, fabric or thread, it is safe to wash carefully. If water is tinted but fabric color unchanged, it is "bleeding" and the garment should be washed, but alone.

In a store you might be badly served by an inefficient clerk and still get good merchandise for your money.

GIRL CAGERS PLAN CONTESTS

Teams To Play At Ashville And Circleville Wednesday And Thursday Nights

Girls basketball, absent from the county for several years, will be revived in Ashville and Circleville this week.

Teams made up from high school girls in the two communities will play two games. Wednesday night the teams will play at Ashville to raise money for the March of Dimes and on Thursday night will play at 8 p. m. at Roll and Bowl.

The game at Circleville will be played before the regular Industrial basketball league contests are staged.

The Circleville team probably will start as follows: Lucille Redman, Emily Lutz, Mary Beck, forward; Ellen Maynard, Charma Lee Stinson, Biddy Reid, guard. Other members of the squad are Shirley Blake and Ruth Glenn.

The Ashville lineup includes Martha Stevenson, Clara Reese, Ruth Ann Thomas forwards; Ann Rader, Mary Lou Thomas, Ellen Johnson, guards.

BASEBALL SALE PRICES BACK TO NORMAL AGAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 22—Wartime baseball prices dropped to normal today with the sale of three big league players for $22,500, approximately one-third of their value a year ago.

The National League champion Cubs, the Washington Senators and the Cleveland Indians combined put four wartime players on the market. There were only three purchases; all at rock-bottom prices.

The Cubs sold Roy Hughes, their sure-fingered World Series shortstop, to the Philadelphia Phillies for the waiver price of $7,500 while the southside White Sox picked up two castoffs from the Washington Senators, Pitcher Alex Carrasquel and infielder Fred Vaughn for the same bargain-counter price, $7,500.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians, finding no buyers, turned loose Al Smith, 37-year-old southpaw who had tolled six of his 13 major league seasons in Cleveland uniform. Boudreau also removed veteran catcher George Sussie from the active player list and made him a full-time coach.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Of this fundamental right, there can be no impairment. Common justice requires this. The people have a right to service from labor as well as from business. No nation can sustain itself long otherwise.

Unions then, must find other means of getting justice than by strikes against the public interest. They easily can get it in many ways, by judicial arbitration and otherwise. They should only have the right to a fair trial like everyone else. They cannot retain the power to stop all living, restrained only by conscience, if any.

The people do not and should not give their government such a power. They cannot, in reason, be expected to give any special group such a power over them. If continued unrestrained, this power can lead only to active strike-use of it, with a breakdown of the nation, or indirect use through political pressures to control the economics of the nation forcing wages, prices and costs ever higher and higher, from year to year until the economy cracks with inflation.

In either event, destruction is the inevitable outcome of the existence of the atomic proportions of the striking power.

BRAMHAM OPENS ANOTHER MINOR, MAJOR BATTLE

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 22—Friction flared anew today between heads of the minor and major baseball leagues over the issue of whether the sport could be consolidated into a single master organization.

President William G. Bramham, the outspoken head of the National Association of the Minor Leagues, said he vigorously opposed a recent suggestion of Commissioner Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, the major league overlord, that both branches should be merged.

"With all due respect to the commissioner's opinion, I believe such consolidation would result in tragedy for baseball," Bramham said last night.

Speaking in reply to what he described as certain stories he had read advocating such consolidation by Chandler, Bramham said "it would suggest too strongly of a trust or syndicate baseball."

"Honest differences of opinion between various branches of the game bring forth honest discussions and settlement of problems," he said. "To stifle the present structure of baseball by merging would lead to inevitable deterioration and loss of public confidence."

The Netherlands is the most densely populated country in the world. Figures for 1944 show 712.3 persons per square mile, compared with 45.5 per square mile for the United States.

OTT PLANNING TO PLAY AGAIN

'Boy Wonder' Expects To Be Regular Right Fielder For New York Giants

BY OSCAR FRALEY
 United Press Sports Writer
 NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Critics and doctors notwithstanding, Melvin Thomas Ott is going to be out there in right field tearing up the Polo Grounds grass for the 21st year this season.

Tanned and relaxed after a winter of loafing, the erstwhile "Master Melvin," the wonder boy of two decades ago, made this clear today as he prepared to lead "80 or 90" hopefuls to Florida for spring training.

And even though he's nearing 37, Ott indicated that there wasn't anyone among the near hundred who he considered would be the man to put him on the bench. Records which fall every time Mel goes to bat are going to keep right on falling—and not because of vanity.

"I'll play as many ball games as I can, and as long as I feel I'm helping the club," Ott explained. "Understand, I'm not counting on playing all 154 games but I am counting upon myself as a regular outfielder."

This despite an ailment to his right knee which benched him a good bit of the time in 1945. A thorough diagnosis revealed that the trouble was in an overgrowing sac beneath the knee which resulted in painful pressure.

"The doctor prescribed rest," Mel revealed. "He said the knee simply was wearing out from so much prolonged use and asked me if I expected to play all my life."

"Well, I don't expect to play all my life but I did rest it and I think I'll be ready to go."

Ott simply is like an old fire horse when the gong goes off. The season is drawing close and he just can't consider sitting on the sidelines. This still is the same youngster who reported back in 1926 as a catcher. A self-composed lad just turning 17.

"Did you ever play the outfield, son?" asked the gruff John McGraw.

"Only when I was a kid," replied the beardless youth from Gretna, La.

That composure and infinite faith in his own ability still is one of the chief characteristics of the Giant manager. And he has taken plenty of care that he'll be fit and trim when training time rolls around.

JACK DEMPSEY III.
 NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey was incapacitated today with a cold and said that he would confer later in the week with eastern financiers about a proposed $10,000,000 indoor sports arena in midtown Manhattan. The conference was to have been held yesterday.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By E. J. SCOTT

WINE CASK—(REISELBERG, GERMANY) HAS A CAPACITY OF MORE THAN 200,000 BOTTLES

THE CANADIANS have named a mountain after General Eisenhower and Grandpa Jenkins is happy about it. Only it makes him mad that he didn't think of it first.

It used to be the custom to honor generals by putting life-sized statues of 'em just where they would impede downtown traffic the most.

Those statue general always had swords even though in real life they may never have used a blade for anything but cutting meat or sharpening pencils.

We still have a lot of those old statues around, most of them showing the generals pointing madly with their swords at nothing in particular and for no reason.

The generals were also always depicted on horseback. Eventually this gave the country almost as many nags made of metal as those made of meat.

The machine gun and the jeep put swords and horses out of the war business and into the pawn shops and onto race tracks. This made an equestrian statue as outmoded as a suit of armor.

We've seen a picture of Mount Eisenhower. It looks serene and rugged and altogether substantial, which makes it a perfect monument for the man it's named for. The Canadians couldn't have made a better choice.

POTATO CROP HEAVY—CHEYENNE, Wyo. (U.P.)—One of the largest potato yields on record in Wyoming is reported for 1945 by George Knutson, federal agricultural statistician. Almost all of the crop was harvested without loss from frost. Preliminary estimate of the yield is 175 bushels a year ago, and a 10-year average of 113 bushels per acre.

Helium was discovered on the sun many years before it was found on earth.

Keighley, producer of Radio Theatre, is three reels of film taken along the route of the Japanese aggression in China. Keighley took the pictures when he and his wife were on a round-the-world trip in 1939, and it is his belief that they were the last non-military pictures taken before the devastation of that area.

Newest excuse for late arrival for rehearsal came from Edgar Bergen last Sunday—he had been on an early morning hunt for wild pigeons.

One of Barry Fitzgerald's favorite quotations from his Uncle Joe is "Be gracious to all men on your way up the ladder of success—you're going to meet a lot of them again, on your way down."

John Scott Trotter kiddingly asked Spike Jones why he was wearing such a bright yellow tie for his recent Music Hall guest appearance. Spike grinned and quipped, "If you think this is bright, wait till it lights up and starts applauding."

William L. Shirer, famous newscaster and author of "Berlin Diary" has just returned to this country after some three months in Europe. Shirer will appear shortly in Reader's Digest with an additional chapter of "Berlin Diary"—it will be a diary of his return to the former Nazi capital after almost five years' absence.

Helen Hayes and Alfred Drake were looking for the piano stool before rehearsing a number for "Cinderella" Texton Theatre. At last it was found in a corner under Vladimir Selinsky, who was quietly doing a sketch on the back of a sheet of music.

SEALED PAYMENTS ASKED

Buyers of Christmas seals who have not yet mailed in payments for them was urged Tuesday to mail them in, by Mrs. C. E. Webb, executive secretary of the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health association; so that the county may go over the top in the campaign. Sales so far reported total $2,552, about $200 short of last year's sales, Mrs. Webb said.

The hoop skirt will soon be fashionable again, say style experts. Well, boys, guess we might as well get started raising a fine crop of sideburns.

Old Clothing To Be Collected In City Wednesday

SCOUTS WILL CALL AT EVERY HOME IN CITY

All Kinds Of Usable Clothes Sought For Residents Of War-Ravaged Nations

Clothing for the Victory Clothing collection will be picked up Wednesday by the Boy Scouts in a house-to-house canvass of Circleville.

The Scouts will call at each door to ask, "Have You Any Old Clothes?" Trucks will accompany the Scouts and the clothes will be carried on them to the collection depot in the Armory.

Richard Morris, chairman of the collection committee, has announced that an adult will accompany each truck to supervise the work of the Scouts, who will be dismissed from school Wednesday afternoon for the project. Other members of the collection committee are Judson Lamm and Mrs. Howard B. Moore.

As soon as the clothing gets to the Armory, the shipping committee, chairmanned by Wallace Crist, will have charge of preparing it for shipping. George Mallet and Oliver Fox are members of the shipping committee.

The old clothes are badly-needed by the war-stricken of the nations that fought with the Yanks and the drive will be a success as Walter Winchell put it, "If only one little child is made warm."

The drive has a two-fold purpose—to relieve suffering and to build international good will. In accordance with the latter purpose donors are asked to pin good will notes on each garment.

Carl Van Doren, famous writer, says "It's American to give to the Victory Clothing Collection."

"In Europe and the Far East, men, women and children, without fuel to warm their houses or food to warm their bodies will shiver and shiver and die this winter for want of clothing that lies idle in America."

"In the Philippines, men, women and children will go naked or in rags for want of the Summer clothing that Americans have put away for winter and will probably never wear again."

"We shall not be American if we refuse to share our plenty. We shall not be human if we forget or neglect to do it. Let us be American. Let us be human."

"Let's give to the Victory Clothing Collection for overseas relief."

Garments that are needed include coats, suits, trousers, skirts, dresses, shirts, sweaters, knitwear, draperies, piece goods, remnants, underwear, pajamas, shoes, blankets and bedding.

Items not solicited include evening dresses, worn-out clothes, men's and women's hats and flimsy clothes.

Friday is collection day for rural areas. On that day trucks will call at school and church collection areas in every township. Mr. Lamm announced.

Members of the educational committee for the drive have been busy promoting the collection in the schools and through other groups. They are George D. McDowell, chairman, A. A. White and Charles V. Ebersole.

The publicity committee composed of Virgil Cress, chairman, Mrs. Helen Gunning, Mrs. Elsie Brooks and Pat Taylor has had charge of newspaper, poster, person-to-person and other types of publicity.

All committee work has been coordinated by Boyd Stout, chairman of the drive for the second time.

AVERAGE OHIO FARM FAMILY INCOME HIGHER

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22—The annual gross income of the average Ohio farm family jumped from $1,749 in 1940 to $3,729 in 1944, the department of agriculture said today and a manufacturers' survey indicated the boost had created a buying market for home labor-saving devices.

John E. Haines, vice president of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regular company, said a survey showed that farm families were interested in acquiring such things as washing machines, electric refrigerators and vacuum cleaners.

Haines said the general movement to modernize on the farm was expected to result in an estimated annual expenditure of $250,000,000 for farm home remodeling in the country for the next five years. The annual outlay for remodeling in Ohio was expected to total $10,730,000 for the period.

NEWS OF OUR MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Demobilization is definitely slowing up. Reports from three separation centers received Tuesday, covering two days of discharging at the centers listed only six more men from this area as having received their discharges.

Furthermore, the lists were much shorter than they were consistently a few days ago. The lists have been gradually getting shorter; so that the lists received today were about 25 pages shorter than the longest lists of up to 35 pages received at the peak of demobilization.

Authorities at Fort Knox, Ky., where Pfc. Carl E. Burns, 125 First avenue, has been discharged announced that the separation center there is to be discontinued January 31. All of its facilities will be moved to Camp Atterbury to be consolidated with that separation center.

At Camp Atterbury, Ind., the following men were discharged: Pfc. William G. Holbrook, route 1; Pfc. Donald D. Schaeffer, route 2; Amanda; Pfc. Arthur R. Westbarger, route 3; and Pfc. Frank S. Gilmore, route 1 Lockbourne.

At Indiantown Gap, Pa., Pfc. Kenneth E. Stillings route 2 Mt. Sterling, was discharged.

S 1/C Raymond Reichelderfer has arrived at his home at 236 East Franklin street after receiving his discharge at Great Lakes, Ill. He served in the Navy three years, spending his overseas service in the South Pacific theatre. He formerly worked at the Eschelman's mill, but has no definite plans for the immediate future.

Word has been received by his grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Morehead, 214 West Water street, that Ph. M. 1/C Isaac L. Sowers, has the following new address: Isaac L. Sowers, Ph. M. 1/C, USS PGM 31, c-o F. P. O., San Francisco, Calif.

T/5 Richard Ross, of Orient, is one of 2,122 high-point Army veterans whom the Navy is returning to the States for discharge aboard the U. S. S. BUNKER HILL, an aircraft carrier of the "Magic Carpet" fleet, which left Saipan, January 1, and was scheduled to arrive in San Pedro about January 15, according to a delayed report from Pearl Harbor, T. H.

The U. S. S. BUNKER HILL provided fighter and bomber support in the invasion of enemy island bases during the war in the Pacific and was a part of the air, surface and undersea blockade of Japan before the surrender. This ship is now operating with the "Magic Carpet" which by January 1, had returned 1,947,995 service veterans to the States.

Mrs. Betty Hanawalt, of 951 South Pickaway street, reports that Pvt. Raymond L. Hanawalt has the following address: Pvt. Raymond L. Hanawalt, 45006130, B. Btry., 22 Armd. F. A. APO 254, c-o P. M., New York, N. Y.

The corrected address of William Kelley, A/S, son of Mrs. Jack Miller of East Franklin street and grandson of F. H. Fissell, West Main street, is as follows: William Kelley, A/S, 570-69-85, Co. 10, USNCT, Great Lakes, Ill.

The modern airplane is not based on the same principle as the flight of a bird.
